

‘Classic, modern crossover in a stylish carpet’

SITUATED close to Leeds and featuring a luxurious spa and golf course, the 152-room Oulton Hall is set in the beautiful Yorkshire countryside, and is one of 26 premium four-star hotels in the QHotels group.

Fusing contemporary and classical influences in what it describes as a ‘striking’ bespoke design, Wilton Carpets Commercial has continued its partnership with QHotels, claiming to bring elegance and poise to the carpets at the luxurious Oulton Hall hotel and spa.

The interior’s classical architectural features of the 18th century former family mansion are said to work with the scroll and floral motifs highlighted with gold accents, while the modern luxury of the four-star hotel is embraced with a contemporary 3D design in charcoal greys that flow through the reception.

The design is then simplified for stairs, while in meeting rooms a lighter version of the effect is worked beneath a complementary motif.

‘The classical elegance of Oulton Hall and its status as a four-star destination meant the carpet had not only to achieve a look befitting its surroundings, but also reflect the hotel’s position as a destination offering modern levels of luxury and relaxation,’ says Trudi Purtil, director of group development, QHotels.

‘Wilton Carpets Commercial has once again fulfilled our ambitions with the carpet’s striking and on-point design, the colours working perfectly with the fabrics and furnishings we’d chosen for Oulton Hall.’

About 900sq m of the bespoke nine-row woven Axminster carpet were installed by Pocklington Carpets through the main reception, staircase and gallery, as well as meeting rooms of the hotel.
